I. INTRODUCTION

The Party Central Committee with Comrade Xi Jinping as the core attaches great importance to the development of ideological and cultural construction. While focusing on deepening the integrity and coordination of reforms, it promotes the transformation of Chinese excellent traditional culture with the spirit of innovation and development, so that enterprises with modern systems contain the traditions of Chinese culture. Features. In the National Conference on Ideological and Political Work in Colleges and Universities held in December 2016, General Secretary Xi Jinping emphasized that "it is necessary to run ideological and political work through the entire process of education and teaching, realize the whole process and all-round education, and strive to create a new development in my country's higher education. situation."

The cultural construction achievements of public hospitals not only reflect the mental outlook, behavioral norms, organizational structure model and the value system constructed by the hospital, but also reflect the trust and satisfaction of the patients in the public hospital, and the hospital staff's attitude towards the hospital. A sense of belonging and pride. For hospital management personnel, it is necessary to fully integrate ideological and political education and cultural construction in combination with the actual situation of the hospital, so that both can give full play to their maximum role and value, thereby effectively improving the management quality and effect of the hospital, and guiding the hospital Operational goals were successfully achieved.

Ideological and political education in hospitals is a comprehensive practical education that hospital political workers carry out with political education as the core and focus of medical workers, so as to continuously improve the ideological and moral level of medical workers, and guide them to produce positive behaviors, so that the majority of medical staff consciously form a people-oriented attitude. The starting point and end point of ideological and political education in hospitals are all medical workers, and the object of education is also all medical workers. Compared with other organizations, hospital medical personnel are engaged in work that is closely related to life, and there is no room for mistakes. The level of ideological awareness of personnel is directly related to the interests, health and even life of patients. Therefore, this study proposes to take hospital culture as the cultural carrier of ideological and political education, improve the effectiveness of ideological and political education through the partial integration of the two, enrich and expand the theoretical research on the relationship between ideological and political education and organizational culture, and will contribute to hospital ideology. The integration of political education and cultural construction provides theoretical guidance.

Carrying out ideological and political work in public hospitals can continuously improve the ideological and moral level of medical staff, guide medical staff to consciously form the spirit of patient-oriented, dedicated and selfless dedication, and finally form a good medical environment, thereby promoting the healthy and stable development of the hospital. In the process of ideological and political education and cultural construction, the main body of construction is mainly medical personnel. Whether it is an educated person or an educator, it belongs to a person in a specific cultural environment. Second, the functions of ideological and political education and cultural construction are both to shape values. On the one hand, the integration of state-owned enterprise culture construction and ideological and political education will help to further clarify the relationship between state-owned enterprise culture construction and ideological and political education, which is instructive for their respective researches and enriches the theoretical basis. On the other hand, when the article expounds the problems existing in the integration of cultural construction and ideological and political education of state-owned enterprises, the function of hospital ideological and political education and cultural construction is to shape the values of medical workers, so that their values are consistent with the core values of the hospital, and then Internalize into your own sense of identity, belonging, and fight for it.

II. THE PROPOSED METHODOLOGY

Hospital ideological and political education is to serve political struggle and production struggle by shaping personality. The essence of hospital ideological and political education is the indoctrination and indoctrination of the hospital's leading ideology. Guided by the thought of socialism with Chinese characteristics, it has a distinct political character. Hospital culture construction refers to the specific management measures established by hospital managers around the cultural connotation of the hospital's material, system, behavior and spirit, so as to constrain and guide medical staff and realize the development and innovation of hospital culture. Hospital ideological and political education and hospital culture both belong to the spiritual level. The main work of hospital ideology and politics is to train medical workers with high enthusiasm and creativity by directly educating medical workers in ideological and moral level, professional ethics, professional quality and other aspects, so as to achieve the social and economic goals of the hospital.

For hospitals, ideological and political education is the premise to ensure that the work of the hospital is done well. Only through effective ideological and political education can the centripetal force of medical workers be improved, thereby enhancing the internal cohesion of the hospital, and ultimately making the hospital externally recognized. In order to promote the healthy development of various work of the hospital, however, cultural construction, as a soft power, cannot be achieved overnight, but requires long-term investment and effort. Therefore, public hospitals must infiltrate cultural construction into every corner of hospital management, so as to efficiently The construction of hospital culture promotes its healthy and harmonious development. Differences in evaluation standards for ideological and political education and cultural construction. All educational outcomes are educational products.

The evaluation standards of hospital ideological and political education are divided into object evaluation, process evaluation, and subject evaluation; while the evaluation standard of cultural construction is spiritual meaning, which can start with medical reform, build a good medical environment, and an excellent working team. The characteristics of hospital culture construction are: combining the independent culture of the hospital with the characteristic culture of each department; the development of the hospital is limited by regions, and its culture is correspondingly regional; it has both medical characteristics and social humanity, and is patient-centered; integrates the hospital itself Development history and innovation needs of the times. The ideological and political work of the hospital usually adopts a monotonous positive indoctrination, and the hospital culture is to integrate the core values of the hospital into all aspects of the work, which usually has a subtle influence on people from the side. At present, the effect of hospital ideological and political education is not very ideal, because its content is too theoretical and the singleness of education methods is not recognized by the majority of medical workers, and the acceptance rate is not very high, so the content of hospital ideological and political education and All methods need certain innovations to ensure the effectiveness of ideological and political education.

Strengthening ideological and political work and cultural construction is conducive to promoting humanistic care. Medical humanistic care is the application of Marxist humanistic care in the medical field. It focuses on respect and care in medical practice, that is, respecting the life value of patients and satisfying the individuality of patients Need to express caring emotions for patients. The ultimate goal of hospital ideological and political education and cultural construction is to enhance the comprehensive strength of the hospital and serve the health of the whole people. We can use this as a meeting point to effectively integrate the two. On the basis of the same ultimate goal of the two, the relative flexibility of cultural construction is used to introduce an ideological and political education evaluation system and working mechanism suitable for the actual situation of the hospital. The ideological and political education and cultural construction of public hospitals are both important parts of the hospital's own work. It plays an important role in promoting the high-quality development of the hospital.

First of all, with the party building as the guide, by strengthening the party building at the grass-roots level in the hospital, the party's political building has always been given top priority, and the vanguard and exemplary role of the party organization and party members has been actively and effectively played. If the hospital wants to effectively integrate ideological and political education and cultural construction, it first needs to fully combine the party's advanced ideology and spiritual and cultural construction. Relevant personnel of the hospital can take the advanced thinking of the party as the development direction of cultural construction, and take spiritual and cultural construction as a way to enhance the main role of the party organization. Guide the direction of cultural construction with the advanced thinking of the party, and strengthen the main role of the party organization with spiritual and cultural construction. To improve the effectiveness of ideological and political education, the most basic point is to know who the main body of education is.

In the hospital, the party organization is responsible for the implementation and supervision. Therefore, it is necessary to clarify the status of the party organization. The party secretary must participate in the decision-making and have the right to speak in order to effectively perform the supervision and management functions of the party organization. Under the leadership of the party organization, actively promote the development of the ideological and political work of the hospital, guide the practice with advanced theories, do not engage in formalism, and enrich the fundamental connotation of ideological and political work. Secondly, taking the party building as the guide, ensuring the correctness and scientificity of the direction of hospital culture construction, and enhancing the internal motivation, this is the driving force and support point for the cultural construction of public hospitals in the new era. In the process of ideological and political education, it is not only necessary to integrate spiritual and cultural concepts into it to improve the ideological awareness of party members, but also to make full use of the class characteristics of ideological and political education to highlight the main position of the party organization. The ideological and political education of state-owned enterprises is the work of ideological education, and the work needs to rely on a certain platform. The integration of state-owned enterprise culture construction and ideological and political education is conducive to enriching the content of ideological and political education and provides an effective carrier for ideological and political education work.

It can be seen that the guiding ideology of the hospital's ideological and political education and cultural construction is consistent. We can use this as a point of convergence to guide the direction of cultural construction with the advanced thinking of the party, and strengthen the main role of the party organization with spiritual and cultural construction. In order to improve the effectiveness of ideological and political education, the most basic point is that we must be clear about who the main body of education is. In the hospital, our party organization will carry out and supervise it. The culture of state-owned enterprises and the ideological and political education of state-owned enterprises are two. They have different meanings, but because the two are indispensable factors for the development of state-owned enterprises. The article analyzes that the consistency of the direction, object and content of the cultural construction of state-owned enterprises and ideological and political education is the basis for the integration of the two, which makes it possible to integrate the cultural construction of state-owned enterprises and ideological and political education. In the practice of promoting cultural construction in hospitals , take the ideological and political work as its engine, give full play to the political and organizational advantages of party building, and turn this advantage into a cultural advantage. Faced with the new situation, new tasks, and new changes, the ideological conditions of medical staff have changed a lot. At this time, it is necessary to take effective ideological and political education measures. Conduct in-depth interviews according to the interview outline to understand the current situation of ideological and political education in the hospital, and the progress of hospital culture construction. The current situation, so as to provide constructive opinions for analyzing the reasons for the current situation of the hospital's ideological and political education and cultural construction, the current situation of the integration of the two, and the path of the integration of the two in the future.

The goal of political work and the goal of cultural construction should be unified after integration. Taking the subject, object and process of education as the general framework, corresponding all aspects of culture to the details of each branch, establishing a systematic evaluation system, and incorporating it into the evaluation as an important standard for performance evaluation. General Secretary Xi Jinping works in philosophy and social sciences At the symposium, it was proposed that "the construction of philosophy and social sciences with Chinese characteristics is a systematic project and an extremely arduous task. It is necessary to strengthen top-level design and coordinate all forces to advance in coordination." This speech clearly pointed out that my country's philosophical society will prosper and develop under the new situation. The right path to a scientific career.

CONCLUSION

Teaching reform should focus on teaching effectiveness, and reforming teaching evaluation is the top priority. No matter what kind of teaching mode, it is necessary to stimulate students' enthusiasm for learning and enhance their professional quality from the corresponding teaching evaluation system. In the process of integration practice, it is inevitable to encounter some problems and setbacks. On the one hand, the SPOC teaching model and concept need to be further improved; on the other hand, how to design according to the model science, complete a series of steps, implement the curriculum system in a targeted manner, and truly promote the development of sports psychology.
